Let's Keep OUR Church and Hall Clean

Let's make an effort to leave the church in good order after Liturgy by returning our books where you found them and not leaving paper in the pews. In the hall, let's leave our table clean and free from crumbs and our chairs pushed into the table. Also check for papers and crumbs on the floor around your table. There are no paid servants to clean up after ourselves. We are each servants of the Lord, and, thus, it is our loving responsibility to leave our church and hall in good condition.

Barbara's Hall Report:

Well, it was the July 4th weekend, and guess who stopped by--Mr. Nobody and he brought no food. He noticed that there were quite a few weekends when he might be stopping by (with no food)! So please sign up for the social and let's keep this guy away from our Church! One good thing--there was no clean up!

St. Vladimir/Volodymyr, Equal to the Apostles

July 15 is the feast of Saint Vladimir the Great, the grandson of Saint Olga (about whom we read last week), and who led Kiev-Rus' into Christianity. Vladimir was raised a pagan, but desired to give his people a better religion from one of the other civilizations. He rejected Judaism and Islam, and while he had friendly relations with the Latin Church, he chose Byzantine Christianity.

In 988, he was baptized, and the Christian community of Kiev was augmented by an influx of Greek missionaries, iconographers, teachers, and monks. Vladimir himself underwent a sincere conversion: he pulled down the idols of the gods, and had them dragged in the mud or burned to show the people that these were false gods with no powers. After his baptism, the great mass of Kievans followed him, being baptized in crowds in the Dnieper River.

He founded churches, monasteries, and schools, supported the work of Greek missionaries, and abolished the death penalty. He set out to be a good ruler of his nation, and ruled with compassion and justice. At his death in 1014, the common people mourned their loss of a compassionate ruler, and acclaimed him as a saint. Because of the success of his work as a missionary, the Orthodox and Catholic Churches both acclaim him as "equal to the apostles."

Because of his choice, the Byzantine form of Christianity became the foundation of modern Ukraine, Russia, and Belarus, and their Churches. This event took place before the Orthodox-Catholic split.

Hidden Treasures of Byzantium

The Santa Fe Desert Chorale will present a "divine and meditative experience" by performing Eastern sacred music from Russia, Greece, Finland, and the U.S. A special commission by Orthodox Priest and composer, Ivan Moody, will also be performed.

This concert is scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 9, 4:00 p.m., at Cathedral Church of St. John, in downtown Albuquerque.

If you would like to attend, please notify Pam Pettit as soon as possible. She can inquire about reduced ticket prices if she knows how large a group plans to attend. Carpooling can be arranged.

Bl. Paul Peter Gojdich

Heroic bishop of Prešov, who defended and hid Jews during World War II, defended the Rusyn nationality against fascists and communists alike, refused to join Orthodoxy and paid for his loyalty to Rome and defense of our Byzantine Catholic Church in communist Czechoslovakia with his life, dying in a communist prison.

He is the patron of our Knights of Columbus Council. Israel recognized him as a Righteous Gentile at Yad Vashem for saving the lives of at least 30 Jews himself, and instructing his priests to baptize - and so save from deportation - any Jews who came to them. Up to 1,500 Jewish family members were saved this way from being sent to Auschwitz. He could have escaped prison, and been given treatment for cancer, and installed as Orthodox Patriarch of Czechoslovakia, if he would break with Rome, and he refused to do so.

He asked God for the grace to die on his birthday, July 17, and for Sacraments from a priest. On the night of July 16, another priest-prisoner was put into the bed next to his, and he heard the bishop's confession. Bishop Gojdich died the next morning, in 1950.
