Sunday of the Six Ecumenical Councils by Fr Chris

On the Sunday between the 13th and the 19th of July, the Eastern Churches commemorate the first Six Ecumenical Councils. These began in 325 AD, just 14 years after the Christian Faith was given legal status in the Roman Empire, as the Church sought to define Who Jesus Christ is, and how we are saved by His Precious Blood on the Cross and brought to new life in Him.

The First Ecumenical Council in Nicaea, 325 A.D.: refuted the heresy of Arius against Jesus being the Son of God, and codified the Nicene Creed with an expanded section on Jesus' role in salvation history;

The Second Ecumenical Council in Constantinople, 381 A.D. condemned the heresy of Macedonius against God, the Holy Spirit, emphasizing that the Third Person of the Trinity is equal to and co-eternal with the Father and the Son, and modified the Nicene Creed for the last time with additions explaining the role of the Spirit;

The Third Ecumenical Council in Ephesus, 431 A.D. refuted the heresy of Nestorius against the Mother of God, and Mary was acclaimed as Theotokos, the God-bearer;

The Fourth Ecumenical Council in Chalcedon, 451 A.D. rejected the Monophysite heresy, and gave us the crucial explanation of Jesus as One Person with human and divine natures;

The Fifth Ecumenical Council in Constantinople, 553 A.D. tried to reconcile the Nestorian and Monophysite Churches of the Middle East with the Great Church (now the Catholic and Orthodox Churches) but failed. It defines Jesus again as One Person, and the hymn "O Only Begotten Son" or the Monogenes, was introduced into the Byzantine Liturgy in order to further define this for the faithful, and excesses of Origen's thought condemned;

The Sixth Ecumenical Council in Constantinople, 681 A.D. condemned the Monothelite heresy, which said that Jesus had only one will - that would have reduced His humanity's freedom.

These Councils, held over the span of 370 years, hammered out the definitions of Jesus that we take for granted today when we sing the Monogenes and Creed in Divine Liturgy: the Eternal Word, Who became incarnate in the womb of the Virgin Mary through the Holy Spirit and not man, Who was fully human and fully divine in One Person, with free human will and free divine will, Who willingly and out of love not only preached and healed on earth, but suffered the saving Passion and Death so as to restore us to our destiny as children of God, and rose from the dead and ascended into heaven, from which He will return to judge us all at the end of time and the resurrection of the dead.

Saint Elijah the Prophet

We commemorate the glorious prophet Elijah on July 20. On this day, we remember the prophet whose words closed the heavens and initiated a drought to punish sinful Israel, and who then prayed for the heavens to open. A small cloud rose up out of the Mediterranean, and that small cloud unleashed torrents of rain on the thirsty land.

Elijah's story is related in the Bible in 1 Kings, chapters 17-21, and again at the beginning of 2 Kings. He is the last of the great prophets in Israel, and because of his ascension into heaven as a living man, the Jews awaited his return to announce the Messiah (Malachi 3:19). Elijah appears in Jewish midrash and in the Talmud with many stories of him intervening in the world. In the Churches of the Byzantine tradition, Jewish influence has resulted in the practice of an empty place being set for Elijah at the Holy Supper on Christmas Eve, so that he can announce the birth of Christ.

Elijah is the spiritual father of the Carmelite Order; European ascetics lived on Mount Carmel during the Crusade era and wore a white habit slashed by black marks which were seen as the wheel-marks from his chariot. Tradition claims that Carmel was home to ancient school of prophets who would come from the wilderness to chastise and warn Israel. The caves however had been long abandoned before these men settled here for lives of prayer and silence, in imitation of Elijah who went away from the world. Saint Albert of Jerusalem gave these men, the hermits of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, their first Rule in 1209-1214. In 1238, the Carmelite friars were driven out by the Muslim re-conquest of the Holy Land, and they took their Elijah and Marian traditions with them to Cyprus and then to Europe. The Carmelites are known especially for the devotion of the wearing of the Brown Scapular, a small version of their habit, which depicts the image of Carmel on end and that of Our Lady of Mount Carmel and the Christ Child handing the scapular to Saint Simon Stock.

In the Evangelization of pagan Europe, St. Elias the Prophet pushed aside both Greek and Slavic gods. The Byzantine emperors Zeno (5th century) and Basil I (9th century) both promoted devotion to the prophet of Mt. Carmel, emphasizing his role regarding the weather. As a result, Elijah came to be invoked for rain during droughts, and for protection against thunder and lightning during storms.

Car Blessings: Because Elijah was taken up into heaven in a chariot, he became the patron of wheeled vehicles. Wagons and carts – so important in the agricultural society of Eastern Europe– were blessed on his feast day. From there, it was an easy transition to bless cars, trucks, motorcycles, and bicycles. The prayer of blessing vehicles asks for heavenly blessings on vehicles and people, guardian angels to protect all, and that we use our cars etc. in the proper spirit.
